My favorite mythical creature? The honest politician.

In the fall of 1977 my brother David bought this 1978 GMC Sierra 2500 4x4 pickup truck. At the time he was driving 120 plus miles a day from home to work then over to collage and back home. In the summer of 1978 the OPEC oil embargo happened. There was an oil shortage and the price of gas when up. He parked the truck and bought a Chevette Scooter for better economy. I bought the truck from him in the summer of 1982 with less than 20,000 miles on it and drove it from Pennsylvania to Alaska. It became my daily driver for the next 20 years after which it was retired and only driven occasionally. In 2013 I had a garage fire and lost the truck. At that time it had 360,000 plus miles on it.

wants your video games

We're happy to announce the start of our home video game collection consisting of vintage auto racing and driving simulator titles. Through collecting electronic racing games, we will ensure the preservation of an important part of our automotive heritage. Such games often featured likenesses or licensed representations of cars that were popular at the time. We will also use the collection to promote an interest in the old car hobby amongst the younger crowd. Donations to the collection will be warmly welcomed. In addition to racing games, we are interested in acquiring classic gaming systems, controllers and related accessories. Check your attic, dust off the Atari and spread the word! Hershey '16

Clear skies, warm weather, and no rain! For a second consecutive year there was warmth and sun for the Wednesday—Thursday—Friday Flea Market at the Eastern Region Meet at Hershey. Unfortunately, again, there was some rain on Saturday for the car show.

The Vintons, Bob Miller, and the Larricks all were at the Flea Market / Swap Meet this year. While no new cars are returning home to Alaska, at least Rick found it a good year for parts and, as always, for making contacts with experienced folks to answer questions and provide guidance. Rick brought home a couple rebuilt horns (for the '25 Franklin and for the '24 Studebaker) and found a source of rebuild parts and excellent advice on his Stromberg UUR2 carburetor for the '32 Studebaker.

As usual, there were many old friends to meet and club booths to visit - exchanging news of other friends and advice / stories of antique and collector cars. Willy and Wilma attended the RM Auction most evenings, and have some stories and photos to share with those who are interested.

Wilma took this picture of the Model A with the original camper trailer behind, ready for auction at the RM Auctions in Hershey.

WANTED

By Scott Grundy

In the process of trying to write a brief history of our club as an introduction to the Policy & Procedures Manual we're developing, I discovered much of our history is missing. Please dust off any boxes/files of old club stuff you might have and turn them in to any club officer, director or Rick Larrick.

If you haven't already done so, I suggest you check out our new website that was beautifully developed by our webmaster Michael Farrell at fairbanksaaca.org. Take a look at the archived newsletters, etcetera that Editor Larrick has posted. They date back to the birth of our club in 1971! Also note that many years are missing. Please turn in anything you might have so it can be properly stored and not lost. Let's preserve our "roots!"

WANTED: Used Oil. Marlin Pruett wants your used motor oil. Give him a call to arrange it. 322-0674

Suggestion: Print or cut this page out and tape it to your refrigerator so you don't miss any of our fun times!

President's Headlights

- Wilma Vinton

The first layer of snow has fallen, winter is officially here. Hopefully you have all put that loved old car (or 2) away for a long winter's nap. I had the pleasure of going to the east coast this past few weeks and I envied their long warm fall, the beautiful colors and their ability to drive their favorite antique or classic car through those fallen leaves.

Our club elections are this next meeting and we are still looking for someone to step up and fill the President's slot. If you have any desire at all to become more involved in our club, I would strongly encourage you to consider putting your name in the hat. It is a good opportunity to participate in the inner workings of the organization, and there is a safety net, the support and assistance of a strong Board of Directors. This job is made easy by their willingness to help as needed.

At the last December Annual Meeting I put out a challenge to the members- consider dressing in period clothing that is appropriate for your favorite car for the 2016 Annual Meeting. I think it would be fun to see how widely the clothing spans over the years. We could have the sedate clothing of the early 1900's, the shimmery '20's, all the way through to the colorful '60's and beyond. So go through your closet (mine still has plenty of 70's stuff I think I still wear daily!) and find something fun to wear to the Annual meeting in December.

SUNSHINE REPORT:

Cards were sent to:

10/18/16 - sent a get well card to Lois Oslund to cheer her up while she recovers from her broken leg.

As for Ray: He was referred to the radiation oncology doctor who wants Ray to see a colon specialist at Virginia Mason in Seattle. However he had been asked to see Dr. Huffer again for a scope and biopsy's of the bladder. He has an appointment for a MRI. His PET scan showed significant reduction of the cancer in his liver and colon when compared to last year's PET scan. It also showed new issues around the lower colon and bladder area that need to be addressed. They feel that due to not using the lower colon because of the cancer and ostomy bag that the colon has a build up of inflammation of the colon lining. It could also be a precancerous area.

We will let you know as things develop on Ray's progress. Until then please continue to keep Ray in your prayers. Thank You!

EDITOR'S LEFT (on) BLINKER

Joyce Tekin clipped, and Paul Tekin read the following anonymous story at our October Membership Meeting and related it to our club election. The story it is a whole lot easier if the wheel does not need to be reinvented each officer term. The key leadership jobs should be more easily done now than at any time in the past, with a procedure structure and an real volunteer force of very capable people to provide support.

The November Membership Meeting is therefore a critical club event. Please attend. And with your attendance, please put some thought into what you can do in a key role for the club. There are many, many, tasks—and each one is critically important, but each one is quite manageable and easily done by itself. If you don't know exactly what you should volunteer for, please tell the new President or Vice-President what kind of thing you are willing and able to do and he or she will pull you into to the team which gets things done to make the club the enjoyable and active group that it is.

Think about the two key positions. The President's position takes an organized person who can stay on top of things and follow up with the many persons involved on the tasks which make the club and the club events go. It takes no extra-special leadership talents, public speaking skill, or automotive know-how. It mostly needs someone who cares, can be inclusive, and can follow-up and push our club forward. The Vice-President has the key role of working with the Events Chair to make sure every event has a PPR and every PPR has the resources they need to carry off our many activities.

- Rick Larrick

by unknown author is often quoted in business advice books and on many websites. It speaks volumes about the current unwillingness of anyone to run for our two key club offices:

Everybody, Somebody, Anybody, And Nobody

This is a little story about four people named Everybody, Somebody, Anybody, and Nobody.

There was an important job to be done and Everybody was sure that Somebody would do it.

Anybody could have done it, but Nobody did it.

Somebody got angry about that because it was Everybody's job.

Everybody thought that Anybody could do it, but Nobody realized that Everybody wouldn't do it.

It ended up that Everybody blamed Somebody when Nobody did what Anybody could have done.

The club is strong, with a large and growing membership. A large pool of people eagerly volunteer for the many tasks associated with our events and committees. In recent years the Board has led an effort to pull together policies and procedures which outline how we have done things and serves as a guideline for leadership to follow in future years—

2017 VLNAACF ELECTION

Because of the failure of the nominating committee to obtain a full slate of officers / director nominees, and the subsequent absence of any floor nominations for the offices of President or Vice-President at the October Membership Meeting, nominations were not closed at the October meeting as is normal practice, and nominations thus remain open until the November Membership Meeting when elections must be held. There will therefore be no mail-in ballots, and all voting will be by members present at the regular November Membership Meeting. Nominations will be taken from the floor at the November Membership Meeting, and once nominations are voted closed, an election will be held. If any positions are contested (more than one candidate nominated), then the election will be by written ballot. If no positions are contested, then election may be by acclamation vote.

Current nomination are:

President: _____ (open, no nominations)

Vice-President: _____ (open, no nominations)

Treasurer: Wilma Vinton

Secretary: Donna Wojciechowski

Outgoing President, John McCarthy, fills the First Director position (since Wilma is running unopposed for Treasurer), Paul Tekin and Scott Culbertson continue for the 2nd year of their term, and two others are elected below for a two year term (2017 & 2018):

Board of Directors – Please vote for TWO individuals:

2017-2018 Director: Melinda Harris

2017-2018 Director: Bob Miller

All ballots will be cast and tabulated at the November 10th membership meeting and results announced before the meeting adjournment.

AUTO TOURISM: Larrick Visit to "The Crawford" Museum in Cleveland

- Rick Larrick

The museum is named after, and was founded by, Frederick C. Crawford, President of Thompson Products. Many of us know Thompson products for engine parts like valves and springs. Despite a degree in Engineering, Crawford started at the predecessor company, Steel Products, in 1916 a menial labor job. He improved everything he worked on, and by 1933 when the founder died, he was promoted to President. Thompson Products grew in the company we now know as TRW under Crawford's leadership. Thompson Products started the collection called the "Thompson Auto Album" in 1937 with the acquisition of the 1910 Duryea Electra which had been exhibited at the Great Lakes Exposition.

The collection grew to 130 vehicles under Thompson / TRW ownership, and the collection was opened to the public in 1943.

Jill and I had visited the collection about eight years before. We found it a fascinating collection of mostly Cleveland cars, and were especially interested in the collection of electric cars. The collection is part of the Western Reserve Historical Society History Center Museum.

Volunteers dust and maintain the collection at The Crawford

When we arrived, we found a number of volunteers dusting and otherwise caring for the collection. When I approached one, and asked if he was a docent, he introduced himself as Bill and said "no" - he was a museum collection volunteer and that there were others who volunteered as docents. As a volunteer, he works two days a week at maintaining the collection, both at the Museum and at their storage / repair facility in Massillon, Ohio. He was very enthusiastic as he told us the museum's goal is correct and historically accurate restoration of every vehicle in the collection, and how many have been returned to operating condition as originally designed and equipped. He said that now that they had a curator, little details really mattered, and that he was excited about cars being restored to exact original configuration, colors, etc., and being maintained and driven. He said it was all due to the curator that the Historical Society hired from the Henry Ford Museum about five years ago, and gave me the Curator's card. He later came and found us with

The 1899 Winton is next in line for a complete restoration, with the intent to show it next summer.

Back then, we found the exhibit a somewhat crowded and poorly displayed car collection housed in rooms with faded paint and worn linoleum floors. That has changed, and continues to change under the leadership of a new curator.

Crawford's Owen Magnetic is also restored to driving condition

"Because it would be hilarious," is probably not a good reason to elect someone to be president.

Derek Moore in tow and introduced us. Derek is the Crawford Museum "Curator of Transportation History", and is certainly enthusiastic about his role and about the progress being made with the collection. We talked cars and collections for quite a while, and he urged us to also visit the Packard Museum, where his fiancée is the curator—this is quite an auto pair! He is being quite fanatic about restoring any installed on the frame or body, and instead only using switches at the battery terminal so as to keep the car chassis and body exactly as original. Where they had documentation or forensic evidence, they were going back to the original colors and fabrics. Drive trains were being "un-modified" where formerly they might have been "improved" for "reliability" or drivability. His goal is to make the collection as aesthetically and mechanically correct as possible.

1904 White (combustion)

Derek extended an invitation to the "Cleveland All Stars Homecoming Show" this coming June 23-25th at the Museum. He is hoping for a good turn-out of cars made in Cleveland (see the list on page 11 of those auto companies founded in Cleveland), and that the invite included modern cars built in northern Ohio (Jeeps, cars built at Lordstown, etc.), and cars bodied by companies in the Cleveland area—that would even include my 1925 Franklin 11A, which has a body made by Rawlang. While I'm not going to drive down in my Franklin, the show will certainly showcase some interesting auto history.

"The Crawford", as it is known, is a definite top ten on any list of important auto museums or public auto collections. Most (over 75%) of the cars on display are of northern Ohio manufacture. If you are in northern Ohio, it is definitely worth a stop!
